

Complimentary Invitation

Manchester Business School - HR Master Class

Leading, Motivating and Empowering Your Staff for Improved Productivity

In a fast-changing knowledge world, it has become increasingly clear that the relative importance of the capital and human assets of an organisation has changed. Not surprisingly, we have moved from the era of personal departments and personal managers to human resource departments and human resource managers. In many areas of business, the main determinant of competitiveness has become increasingly unit labour cost, and those organisations which are able to foster good human relations and energise and motivate their workforces are the ones which will thrive and grow in the highly competitive globalising business environment.

Professor Pikay Richardson's lecture will address the issue of how the senior management can and should lead their workers to achieve high productivity, and with it, great business success.

Date & Time:	25th July, 2012 (Wednesday) 2:30pm-5pm
Venue:	Manchester Business School East Asia Centre 6/F, Wilson House, 19-27 Wyndham Street, Central, HK
Who should attend	HR Directors, Training OR Learning & Development Department Head
Fee:	HK$800 (served with light refreshments)
Registration:	first-come, first-served basis by 19th July.
Enquiries:	Venus Cheung at +852 2588 5016 or Email: alumni@mbs.edu.hk

About the Speaker

Professor Pikay Richardson is a Visiting Senior Fellow at the Manchester Business School, and has more than 17 years of fulltime teaching and research at the School, where he taught MBA. He is not only an MBA professor, but also because he has profound knowledge in management consultancy internationally.

Apart from Leadership development, he also specialises in Strategic Management, and Executive development Programmes. Professor Richardson is active in applied research and is at the forefront of bringing cutting edge knowledge to practising managers.

